Andrew Weitzel

Creative Director

Creative Director with more than two decades of experience in brand strategy, design, and interactive experiences. Andy combines creative direction with a passion for design and immersive experiences, guiding ideas from concept to launch.

Andy co-founded Box Creative in 2007 and serves as its Creative Director and Chief Creative Officer. He has led award-winning work for Fortune 50 companies and startups, spanning brand identity systems, integrated marketing, immersive experiences, and app development.

Andy holds the same leadership roles at Dayworker, a tech startup that helps skilled laborers find work and contractors build crews. His work spans brand building, design and UX for mobile and web apps, reactive marketing campaigns, and front-end development.
